HOMES

What is Habitat for Humanity?

*Habitat for Humanity International is a non-profit, ecumenical Christian housing ministry dedicated to eliminating poverty housing and homelessness from the world.

*Habitat for Humanity of Pueblo, Inc is an affiliate of the International organization started in 1989 to build decent, affordable homes with people in need in Pueblo, Colorado.

How Does It Work?

*Through volunteer labor and tax-deductible donations of money and materials, Habitat builds simple, decent houses with the help of the homeowner family.

*Habitat houses are sold to partner families at cost and are financed by an affordable, no interest loan through the local affiliate.

*The homeowners' monthly mortgage payment is used to build more houses.

*In addition to making monthly mortgage payments, homeowners invest many hours of their own labor-sweat-equity into building their houses and the houses of others.

Who Is Eligible?

*Residents of Pueblo County who meet low income guidelines and are first-time homeowners.

*Families who are in need of better housing.

*Families that have the ability to make a mortgage payment based on 20% of their household income.

*Families that are willing to partner with Habitat for Humanity.

How to Apply for a Home

*Call the Habitat for Humanity of Pueblo Office at (719) 565-0745

*Attend all the Orientation meetings

*The Orientation seminar provides an opportunity to learn more about Habitat for Humanity of Pueblo, Inc and it will lead you through the application process.
